MYSTERIOUS CRAFT CAUSES A STIR IN THE USA

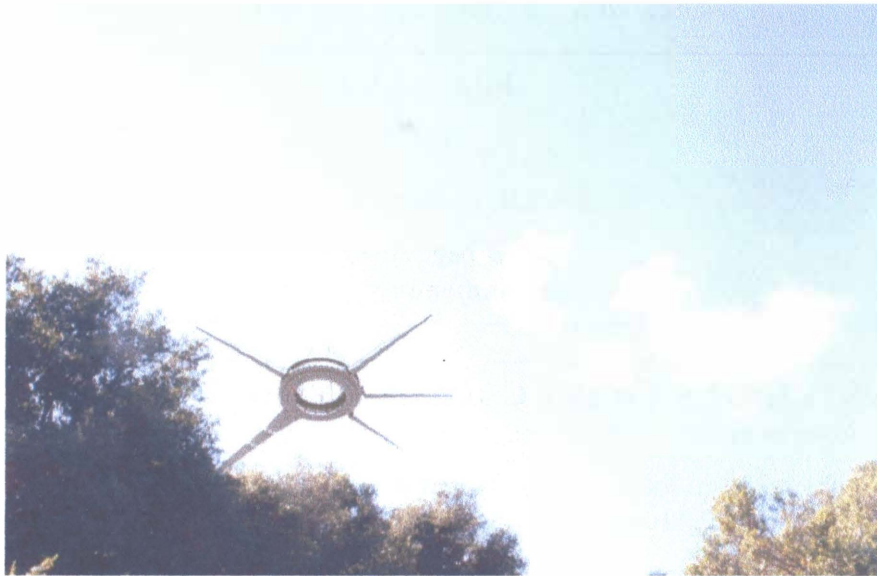

A number of photographs taken in the Californian area of the United States and showing what appears to be a mysterious remotely controlled type of craft have recently appeared on the Internet.

We have had little information on these craft other than the comments of the observers and there has been wide speculation on their origin. Whether they were man made or originate from an Alien 'mother craft' was not known at the time of their appearance in the media.

However, new information has only just come to hand and has been included in the final part of this article, showing what could be a very clever hoax.

Aerial 'drone'? With segmented round portion reminiscent of NASA 'small-scale levitation model stator' in graphic above. Photographed in Central California on May 6th 2007 by Chad, who requests anonymity.

The craft is almost completely silent and moves very smoothly. It usually moves slowly until it decides to take off. Then it moves VERY quickly and is out of sight in the blink of an eye. More than anything I simply want to understand what this is and why it is here? Chad.

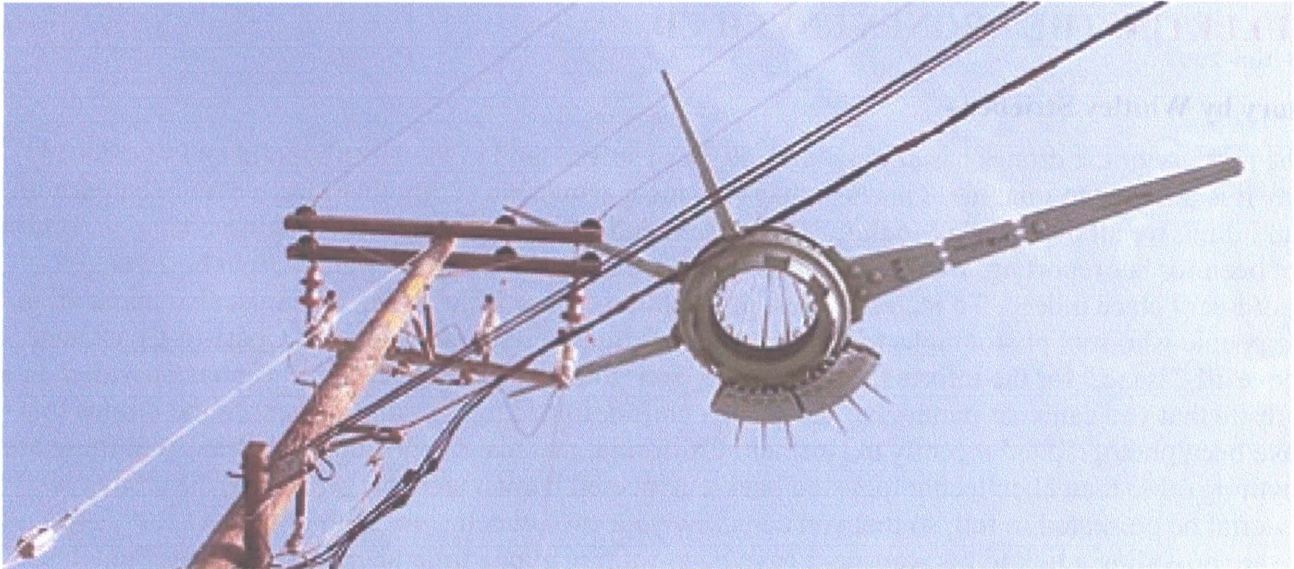

Another witness report: It was about a half hour before sundown 10th June 2006, and we were about 10 minutes from our camp site (we were looking for marshmallow roasting sticks.) We first noticed this 'thing' almost directly above us, not much higher than the tops of the trees. It looked just like the sketch, despite my lack of drawing skill, and was moving extremely slowly.

The way it moved really looked effortless. It was like two very long, thin shapes connected with a ring. The arms looked just like the photos you posted although I don't remember seeing any of the lettering. It was getting pretty dark, though, so I'm not going to say it wasn't there, I just don't remember seeing anything like that.

Coming off the top of the ring were those same curved spike things in the photos. Unlike the other pictures I've seen, however, the thing I saw also had a kind of 'arm' that reached down from the ring as well. I have no idea what any of these features were for, as I never saw it 'do' anything other than fly around.

May 28, 2007 Albuquerque, New Mexico - Since first seeing the odd, dragonfly-shaped, unidentified aerial objects in the Chad images three weeks ago from Central California, I have been pursuing the hypothesis that the object is a "black" military project which is developing, or has developed, what some have called "ion electrostatic propulsion."

"But exactly what agency is responsible and for exactly what purpose? The 2005 eyewitness, Shirley, in Sequoia National Park and the 2006 eyewitness, Mr. Smith, in Birmingham, Alabama, are solid citizens reporting what they have seen and Mr. Smith photographed. Both eyewitnesses - a year apart and both in the month of May - have seen an unidentified aerial object shaped like a dragonfly in the sky.

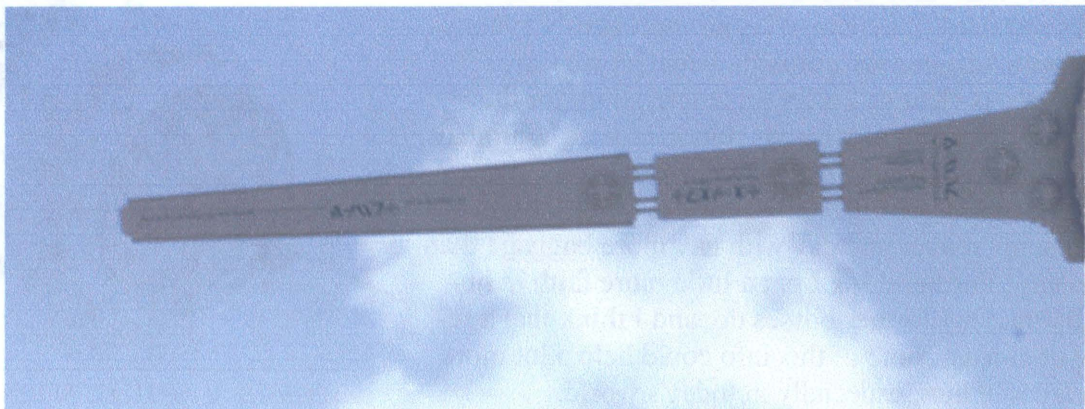

Rajman1977 Image 0016, taken with a Konica Minolta DiMAGE X on May 16, 2007, in Capitola, California. Image © 2007 by rajman1977 at flickr.com

First of all, I see this thing VERY often. Since it first appeared, I have probably seen this thing maybe 8 different times since the first appearance. My friend and I went out the next day after I first saw it to get the photos, but it was not there. Then we tried again the next day, and we found it within like 30 minutes and followed it for a while. Most of the time I see it out of windows in my house, in the distance. but I would say almost half of the hikes I have gone on in my area, I have seen it very close. It is very easy to photograph and...many neighbors aside from my friend have also seen it.

It is almost totally silent but not quite. It makes kind of "crackling" noises. It's hard to describe them but they are only intermittent and not very loud, but you can notice them. Sometimes there is a very slight hum that sounds kind of mechanical, almost like when you are near very large power lines. But it is nothing loud like a jet engine, it is very quiet for the most part.

It moves almost like an insect. If you have ever seen a bug on a pond, it is kind of like that. It is VERY smooth and slow most of the time, but then every now and then it will rotate very quickly and go VERY fast into another direction, then stop, and repeat the process all over again. There is just something very unnatural about the way it moves.

Also, I have had maybe 4 headaches in the last week, and I am normally not the kind of person who really ever gets them. Also my wife has been tired and fatigued lately. She is about a month pregnant, and the doctor said fatigue is normal around this time, but I worry that it is a lot. Basically what I'm worried is that this "craft" has got some kind of radiation or something. Like I said, it sounds like power lines if you get close enough to it. Obviously I am worried for our health, especially with a baby on the way. I don't know if they are related, but again, this is why I really hope someone can answer these questions!

BULLETIN: THE DRONES UNVEILED

26-Jun-2007

Story by Whitley Strieber -

The mystery of the drones has almost certainly been solved, and in the most hopeful and wonderful way it is possible to imagine. This is perhaps the most astonishing story that I have ever been party to, and I think we all owe Linda Moulton Howe a tremendous vote of thanks for making it happen. Had it not been for her reporting, we would not be where we are with this now, which might be a very extraordinary place indeed. To read her latest information on Earthfiles.com, We must also thank all of the people who sent photographs to her and gave her interviews, who contacted Coast-to-Coast and, above all, "Isaac," for the information he has given us today about Project Caret. He has provided on a website that you can visit pictures of pieces of a craft designed in the same manner as the drones that have been photographed recently in Northern California, that make it difficult to believe that these are anything other than alien technology and back-engineered human technology. He has asked that his material be presented in full, so that you can draw your own conclusions. Out of respect for his request, we are providing a link to his website. I have been waiting a long time to express my own thoughts, which I offer in this journal entry.

Explanation of the Recent "Strange Craft" Sightings

Here is the brief introduction. I'm using the alias Isaac, and used to work in what was called the CARET program in the 80's. During my time there, I worked with a lot of the technology that is clearly at work in the recent drone/strange craft sightings, most notably the "language" and diagrams seen on the underside of each craft. What follows is a lengthy letter about who I am, what I know, and what these sightings are (probably) all about.

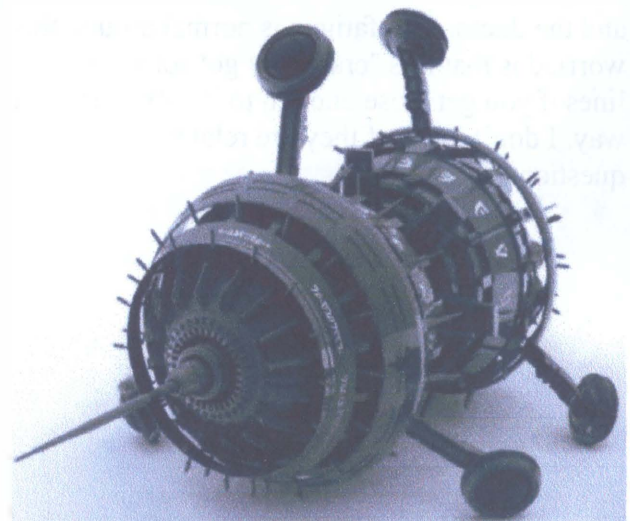

The appearance of these photos has convinced me to release at least some of the numerous photographs and photocopied documents I still possess some 20 years later that can explain a great deal about these sightings.

I am also trying to get in touch with the witnesses so far, such as Chad, Rajman, Jenna, Ty, and the Lake Tahoe witness (especially Chad). I have advice for them that may be somewhat helpful in dealing with what they've seen and what I would recommend they do with what they know. If you are one of these witnesses, or can put me in touch with them, please contact Coast to Coast and let them know.

My Experience with the CARET Program and Extra-terrestrial Technology Isaac, June 2007

This letter is part of a package I've assembled for Coast to Coast AM to distribute to its audience. It is a companion to numerous document and photo scans and should not be separated from them.

You can call me Isaac, an alias I've chosen as a simple measure of protection while I release what would be called tremendously sensitive information even by today's standards. "Sensitive" is not necessarily synonymous with "dangerous", though, which is why my conscience is clear as I offer this material up for the public. My government has its reasons for its continual secrecy, and I sympathize with many of them, but the truth is that I'm getting old and I'm not interested in meeting my maker one day with any more baggage than necessary! Furthermore, I put a little more faith in humanity than my former bosses do, and I think that a release of at least some of this info could help a lot more than it could hurt, especially in today's world.

POSSIBLY ACTUAL ALIEN HARDWARE

I should be clear before I begin, as a final note: I am not interested in making myself vulnerable to the consequences of betraying the trust of my superiors and will not divulge any personal information that could determine my identity. However my intent is not to deceive, so information that I think is too risky to share will be simply left out rather than obfuscated in some way (aside from my alias, which I freely admit is not my real name). I would estimate that with the information contained in this letter, I could be narrowed down to one of maybe 30-50 people at best, so I feel reasonably secure.

Some Explanation for the Recent Sightings

For many years I've occasionally considered the release of at least some of the material I possess, but the recent wave of photos and sightings has prompted me to cut to the chase and do so now.

I should first be clear that I'm not directly familiar with any of the crafts seen in the photos in their entirety. I've never seen them in a hangar or worked on them myself or seen aliens zipping around in them. However, I have worked with and seen many of the parts visible in these crafts, some of which can be seen in the Q3-85 Inventory Review scan found at the top of this page. More importantly though, I'm very familiar with the "language" on their undersides seen clearly in photos by Chad and Rajman, and in another form in the Big Basin photos.

One question I can answer for sure is why they're suddenly here. These crafts have probably existed in their current form for decades, and I can say for sure that the technology behind them has existed for decades before that. The "language", in fact, (I'll explain shortly why I keep putting that in quotes) was the subject of my work in years past. I'll cover that as well.

The reason they're suddenly visible, however, is another matter entirely. These crafts, assuming they're anything like the hardware I worked with in the 80's (assuming they're better, in fact), are equipped with technology that enables invisibility. That ability can be controlled both on board the craft, and remotely. However, what's important in this case is that this invisibility can also be disrupted by other technology. Think of it like radar jamming. I would bet my life savings (since I know this has happened before) that these craft are becoming visible and then returning to invisibility arbitrarily, probably unintentionally, and undoubtedly for only short periods, due to the activity of a kind of disrupting technology being set off elsewhere, but nearby. I'm especially sure of this in the case of the Big Basin sightings, where the witnesses themselves reported seeing the craft just appear and disappear. This is especially likely because of the way the witness described one of the appearances being only a momentary flicker, which is consistent with the unintentional, intermittent triggering of such a device.

It's no surprise that these sightings are all taking place in California, and especially the Saratoga/South Bay area. Not far from Saratoga is Mountain View/Sunnyvale, home to Moffett Field and the NASA Ames Research center. Again, I'd be willing to bet just about anything that the device capable of hijacking the cloaking of these nearby craft was inadvertently triggered, probably during some kind of experiment, at the exact moment they were being seen. Miles away, in Big Basin, the witnesses were in the right place at the right time and saw the results of this disruption with their own eyes. God knows what else was suddenly appearing in the skies at that moment, and who else may have seen it. I've had some direct contact with this device, or at least a device capable of the same thing, and this kind of mistake is not unprecedented. I am personally aware of at least one other incident in which this kind of technology was accidentally set off, resulting in the sudden visibility of normally invisible things. The only difference is that these days, cameras are a lot more common!

Ed. Since going to press with this article we have learnt that this whole incident appears to be an extremely clever hoax as the result of work by some highly technical culprits.

MORE STRANGE UFO'S SEEN OVER PORTSMOUTH HARBOUR

With thanks to Ernie Sears (SUFOG)

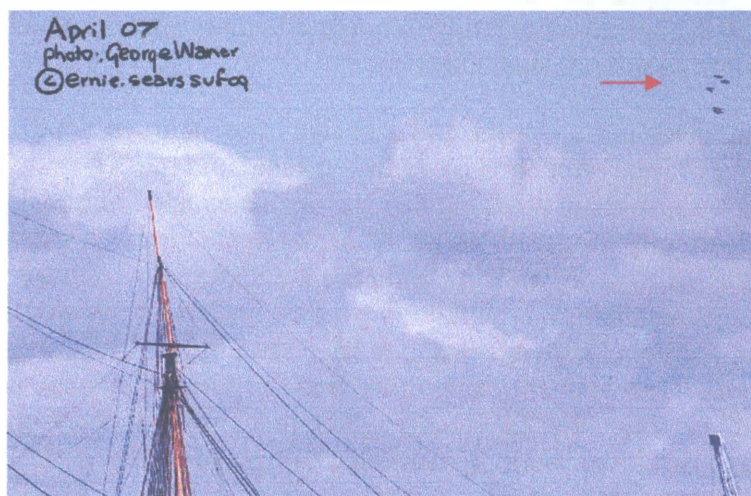

You can see a selection of some of the fairly recent photos sent from George Warner.

George is having difficulties currently, part of which is due to many of the 'objects' being too far off over Portsmouth Harbour. A number of the photos do not do the subject justice when enlarged, this is in spite of him having three cameras, one of his latest being a state of the art digital model.

He is very choosy as to which ones are good enough for reproduction, but a selection is shown below.

At first glance these objects may look like a flock of birds, but there are subtle differences as confirmed by several dedicated ornithologist friends. They were observed the day after the 'orbs' were seen over Islington, London...just a coincidence?

Enlargement of objects seen on left.

Ed. Ernie Sears has continued to send copies of the 'objects' photographed over Portsmouth harbour to the Ministry of Defence (MoD) and although they have kept them on file, there has been no response as to their identification. Bearing in mind that Portsmouth continues to be an important Naval Base it is surprising that the subject of these 'objects' has not been pursued (to our knowledge).

MYSTERY OBJECTS PHOTOGRAPHED BY PRA MEMBERS

A report from Mrs H.Lewis of 'Daventry Calling'

Sunday 8th April 07 – Strange object.

This incident happened to a friend, of a member of the Northampton UFO group,

His hobby is flying model aircraft; he was out in the fields at 'Badby nr Daventry in Northants flying his craft when he noticed something drifting in the sky, at first Thinking it to be a black plastic bag, but soon realised it was something else, having Seen other phenomena before, he quickly gets his camera and takes a few pictures Of the object using different angles as it went across the sky.

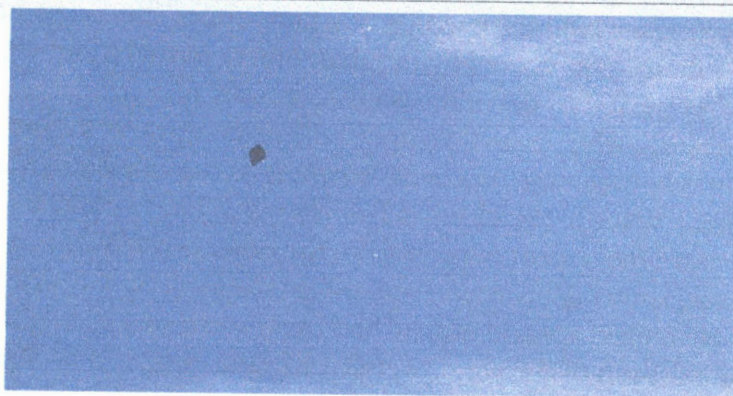

Knowing his friend would be interested he told him a few days later when he had the Photo's develope , although he; does not wish to be involved.

This is all one knows and would not have bothered had it not been for an article seen on page 2 of the May/June issue, of the 'OVNI magazine.

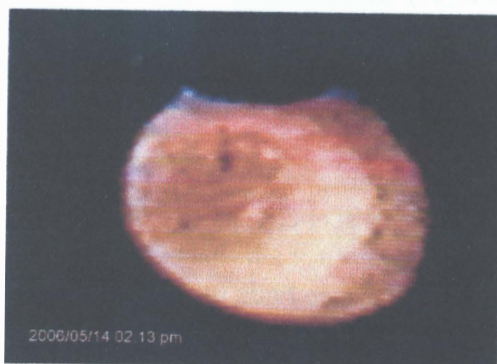

This shows a picture very similar, seen at Wollaton park- Nottingham, this was seen April 15th enclosed is the object seen a week earlier in the Northants area.

The mystery object can be seen in the photo below.

Difficult to identify, but it does not have the appearance of an inflated bin liner.

A Selection from Neil Cairns collection (Langwith, Mansfield, Notts.)

Neil has frequently caught unusual light phenomena on his video camera and is amassing quite a collection of photographs showing the strange lights often seen in this area of Nottinghamshire.

Unusual incident – Wiltshire

12th -13th May 2007

The weather forecast was not good for that weekend in May when my friends and I had planned to go to Wiltshire, but risking the weather even though there was not much chance of seeing any 'Crop Formations, it being a bit early in the season. But there are always friends to meet up with.

Due to the weather being atrocious it was decided that the two mature members of the group would stay in a bed& breakfast, while the other two friends camped as is their habit when coming away.

Arriving at Wiltshire we found difficulty in getting the two single rooms needed, being only friends, myself the only female. In jest it was suggested why not share a double room this would be more practical also cut the cost, this we did.

One would think there was no story attached to this tale.

But my friend and I; both single finding ourselves in such circumstances did give cause for deep embarrassment but it was out of necessity sharing a room.

Having difficulty sleeping being fully aware that someone else was in the room, laying there thinking about my predicament clock watching, the time was 1-40am when suddenly I noticed movement, the ceiling started being covered with little white lights these resembled the end tips of a fibre optics, it was like being under the stars. Then these lights some brighter than others started to fill the whole room, I watched as they moved all down the walls eventually filling the room.

Then a huge whitish orb appeared centre of the room this was just in front of the sash window and between the two beds, watching as it swirled about like the 'Northern lights. Not being afraid as I see so much but fascinated.

It was then I heard movement coming from the other bed which was the other Side of a dresser, knowing my friend was still awake I ask him; if there was anything in the room? He replied yes and said he had been watching a red light going back and forth along the top of the window, this I had not seen, but his bed was nearer the window than mine.

He then went on to say there was a large orb just in front of the window, also tiny lights were everywhere in the room. Going on to say he had been watching them for some time.

As we laid there watching this scene, we both felt an overwhelming peace and Tranquillity spread over us, all embarrassment had gone, as my friend said he felt as if we had been sharing a room all our lives. The whole of this incident lasted for over 20minutes, we lay there enjoying watching this scene, talking wondering what it was we were seeing? There was a strangeness about it all.

But stranger still, although we knew we were laying in those beds in that room.

We both felt we were not there?

With Thanks to 'DC' for this article.

DRAMATIC EVENTS AT THE INTERNATIONAL SPACE STATION (ISS)

By Paul

During the recent Atlantis Shuttle docking to the ISS a number of events occurred that the general public may not be aware of. Thanks to the 24hr NASA open TV/Internet coverage I was able to watch and listen to a number of critical problems and unplanned events developing on the ISS.

Whilst the Shuttle was delivering more solar panels and the SARJ joint, the ISS power system had to be re-routed. This meant temporarily shutting down the Russian navigation system computers, responsible for maintaining the ISS/Shuttle attitude in space.

Station attitude problems developed when the new power couplings were connected, which resulted in the Russian computers becoming unstable. This was very bad news, as without station attitude control, the ISS would have to be abandoned and all would be lost!

Meanwhile a 4 inch tear had been discovered in the heat blanket around one of the OMS pods. This was more bad news as they dare not return in the Shuttle Atlantis with that kind of damage!

After some two and fro discussion and in the usual 'Apollo 13' spirit, NASA came up with a wild rectification plan that used surgical staples, pins and a long space walk to rectify the damage!

Back in the ISS the Russians were 'grasping at straws' and trying to fathom out why their computers were failing randomly. They had a few backup systems, but ALL of them were failing, it was only the Shuttle that was able to maintain the correct ISS attitude and soon the Shuttle had to leave!

Another attempt was made to recover the computers and use of the station gyro systems, then alarms could be heard, including a fire alarm!

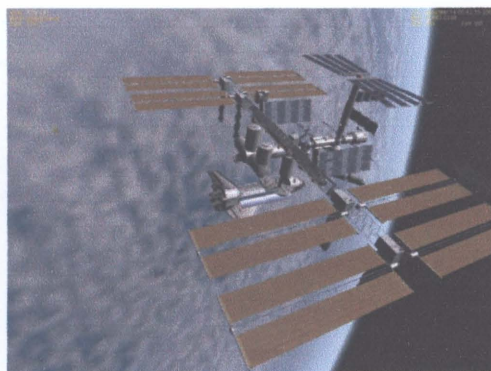

The situation was really getting tense and it was at this stage that the contingency plans for the evacuation of the ISS (should the contingency persist), were discussed. This would have meant evacuating the International Space Station and leaving it to slowly spin out of control until it eventually re-entered the Earth's atmosphere where it would disintegrate, burn up and fall down heaven knows where!

At NASA mission control, usually the scene of easy going discussions and a casual observation of data readouts, the situation was hectic. Now everyone was working hard, paying attention and looking tense!

Luckily at this stage the Russians discovered the problem, it was a faulty power controller. After an urgent space walk to re-route some connectors on the ISS and with the Space Shuttle patched up with surgical staples and pins, the situation was saved!

The Atlantis Shuttle undocked and with Sunita Williams on board (having set a new endurance record in Space of 188 days), the Shuttle returned safely to Earth.

An amazing few days in space! "Routine" said NASA. What an amazing bunch of people!

CANADIAN 'FLYING TRIANGLE' REPORT

Oshawa, Ontario Multicolored Light And Massive Triangular Craft - (Diagram)

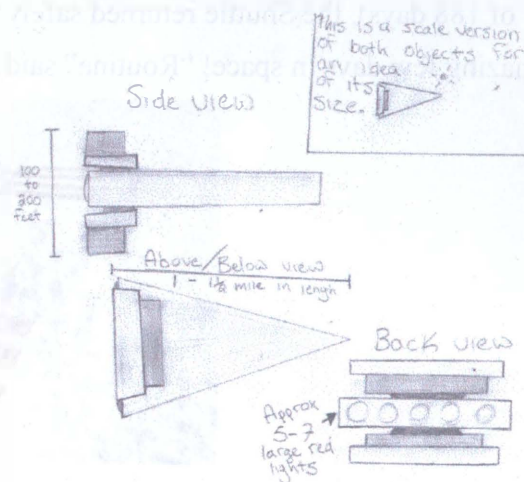

Date: May 8, 2007 Time: Approx: 10:00 p.m. Location of Sighting: School Near my house. Number of witnesses: 2/4 Number of objects: 2 Shape of objects: One multi colored light, 1 beige Triangle.

Full Description of event/sighting: I was standing behind this school on the pavement playing hack, when my friend Lex said look a UFO, and we all looked up and saw a bright white light moving across the sky from West to East. The light seemed to have multi colored lights moving around it in all directions, green, blue, red, and white. There was 4 of us standing there, Bogie, Lex, and his girlfriend. Lex, Bogie and I have all seen UFO's in this area before, but Lex's girlfriend had not, she was sort of startled. Bogie and I walked out into the field to watch the light, since it was now nearing the tree line and we were losing sight of it. We stopped in about the middle of the field because there was a V shaped opening in the trees where we could clearly see the light, which was a few miles away by now, and was quite high in elevation which it had maintained since we first saw it. As we were watching it, from the left of the V shaped opening of trees, a massive, and I mean massive beige triangle came toward the light with insect like speed.

The triangle was about a mile, to a mile and a half in length, and about 100-200 feet from the side view, and this thing was a few miles away, but you could measure it with a ruler. It flew around the multicolored light with insect agility and after about 4 seconds it left the way it came. The best way to describe the triangular craft was a star destroyer from Star Wars. It had 2 large square parts on both sides, which were I think, completely identical, and on the back. On the 'main' triangle part, at the back it seemed to have 5-7 red lights which would slightly light up as it fluidly moved though the air. So I would assume this would be some sort of propulsion. We saw this object for about 4-5 seconds, and as you can see in the diagram I saw quite a bit of detail on it, it was the most incredible thing I have ever seen. I have never heard of this type of UFO, ever. As soon as I saw this second object (triangle) I yelled for Lex and his girlfriend, but it was gone before they got to where we were standing. Bogie and I are very dumbfounded by what we saw, and hopefully, someone saw what we saw, because you couldn't miss this thing. I have drawn a sketch of the object I saw.

A NEW TWIST TO THE ROSWELL MYSTERY (30th June 07)

Lieutenant Walter Haut was the public relations officer at the Roswell base in 1947, and was the man who issued the original and subsequent press releases after the crash on the orders of the base commander, Colonel William Blanchard.

Haut died last year, but left a sworn affidavit to be opened only after his death.

Last week, the text was released and asserts that the weather balloon claim was a cover story, and that the real object had been recovered by the military and stored in a hangar. He described seeing not just the craft, but alien bodies. He wasn't the first Roswell witness to talk about bodies. Local undertaker Glenn Dennis had long claimed that he was contacted by authorities at Roswell shortly after the crash and asked to provide a number of child-sized coffins. When he arrived at the base, he was apparently told by a nurse (who later disappeared) that a UFO had crashed and that small humanoid extraterrestrials had been recovered.

Haut is the only one of the original participants to claim to have seen alien bodies. Haut's affidavit talks about a high-level meeting he attended with base commander Col William Blanchard and the Commander of the Eighth Army Air Force, Gen Roger Ramey. Haut states that at this meeting, pieces of wreckage were handed around for participants to touch, with nobody able to identify the material.

He says the press release was issued because locals were already aware of the crash site, but in fact there had been a second crash site, where more debris from the craft had fallen. The plan was that an announcement acknowledging the first site, which had been discovered by a rancher, would divert attention from the second and more important location. Haut also spoke about a clean-up operation, where for months afterwards military personnel scoured both crash sites searching for all remaining pieces of debris, removing them and erasing all signs that anything unusual had occurred. This ties in with claims made by locals that debris collected as souvenirs was seized by the military.

Haut then tells how Colonel Blanchard took him to 'Building 84' - one of the hangars at Roswell - and showed him the craft itself. He describes a metallic egg-shaped object around 12-15ft in length and around 6ft wide. He said he saw no windows, wings, tail, landing gear or any other feature.

He saw two bodies on the floor, partially covered by a tarpaulin. They are described in his statement as about 4ft tall, with disproportionately large heads. Towards the end of the affidavit, Haut concludes: "I am convinced that what I personally observed was some kind of craft and its crew from outer space."

What's particularly interesting about Walter Haut is that in the many interviews he gave before his death, he played down his role and made no such claims. Had he been seeking publicity, he would surely have spoken about the craft and the bodies. Did he fear ridicule, or was the affidavit a sort of deathbed confession from someone who had been part of a cover-up, but who had stayed loyal to the end?

Washington Black Triangle at 500 Feet

YELM – I was outside walking our dog about 10:30 PM, and heard a strange vibration overhead and behind me between June 3 and 9, 2007. It was approximately 500 feet above our house and moved from west to east, following the Nisqually River near Fort Lewis upstream. I could make out the triangular shape of it and also noted it had three lights, but they did not illuminate me or anything else as it passed right over. I did notice some red lights that were constantly on in the rear of the object as it passed over. It only made the strange vibrating sound. My wife asked what caused the vibrations. Perhaps it is some advanced military vehicle stationed at nearby McChord Air Force Base. Thanks to Brian Vike, Director HBCC UFO Research <http://www.hbccufo.org>

FIRST REGISTERED MASSIVE SIGHTING IN PERU

PRELIMINAR REPORT 1RA.PARTE

By: Dr. Anthony Choy (Independent Researcher)

Founder Member of the Office of Investigation of Aerial Anomalous Phenomena (OIFAA) of the Air Force of Peru

From end of November of the 2006, I began to receive reports about massive sightings of ufos, from the zone of Acho and Central Market, in the downtown of Lima.

However, in afternoon of this last Sunday twenty of May of the 2007, it began to get information which from midday, strange white spheres were being on the sky of Lima, Peru.

The reports came from the districts of Lima, from Surco (Surco Viejo), San Isidro, and the downtown of Lima. Indeed the journalist Francisco Landauro of ATV News, (TV Station) was in this last zone when he noticed that tens of people watched the sky.

What they observed they were thirty white balls of light, that gave the impression to form geometric figures. Immediately he called to its tv station, Canal 9, so that they registered the images.

Surprised by the unusual fact, the cameramen of ATV News, Erick Schreiber and R. Monsefú; they began to record around the 2 p.m., about of half an hour.

Nevertheless the phenomenon came showing from the noon, reason why it calculates that it lasted near , since two hours and half an hour, after this time slowly they were disappearing.

According to the video of near 30 minutes of duration and the declaration of witnesses, which can be seen, there are between 30 to 50 physical manifestations, similar to spheres of white color, of unknown origin, very near one of which they were immovable, observed for two hours and half an hours, without emitting noise or sound some, to an approximated height of 2.000 meters (data to verify), that they were seen from different points from the capital.

Ed: Note the similarity to the orbs frequently observed over Mexico City.

A Hole in Mars

2007 May 28

Credit: NASA, JPL, U. Arizona

Explanation: Black spots have been discovered on Mars that are so dark that nothing inside can be seen.

Quite possibly, the spots are entrances to deep under-ground caves capable of protecting Martian life, were it to exist. The unusual hole pictured above was found on the slopes of the giant Martian volcano Arsia Mons.

The above image was captured three weeks ago by the HiRISE instrument onboard the Mars Reconnaissance Orbiter currently circling Mars.

The holes were originally identified on lower resolution images from the Mars Odyssey spacecraft. The above hole is about the size of a football field and is so deep that it is completely unilluminated by the Sun. Such holes and underground caves might be prime targets for future spacecraft, robots, and even the next generation of human interplanetary explorers.

Ed: The mystery of Mars increases daily as more unexplained photographs become available.

The possibility that eventually a surveillance lander craft will be able to investigate some of these mysteries is awaited with eager anticipation, but will NASA release what may well be such Earth shattering news!

TALE ENDERS

LONG EATON (Derbyshire). On June 10th 2007, a light roughly six times the size of a normal satellite was seen travelling from West to East from the direction of Derby to Nottingham at 0323hrs.

It was bright enough to be visible against the full moon. It may possibly have been the Space Shuttle or something of similar size? No sound was heard during the 45 seconds sighting and the object maintained the same trajectory throughout the sighting. Source: Peter Davenport, Director of National Reporting Centre. www.nuforc.com

MORE ON THE CHANNEL ISLANDS UFO SIGHTING

Tom Edwards, reporter for The Guernsey Press and Star reveals, "Aurigny's Airlines Captain Roy Bowyer was on Richard and Judy's show on June 25, 2007, and CNN. The Aurigny pilot, who said he spotted two huge unidentified objects off Alderney two months ago, explained the sightings to a UK audience. The Channel 4 couple quizzed the captain about his brush with the unknown and showed him some photographs of other famous sightings. Mr Bowyer said that one of the images, of an object spotted over New Mexico, was very similar to what he had seen. Media attention has been growing over the pilot's UFO sighting since it was first reported by the Guernsey Press on Thursday 26 April. His descriptions of a mile-long, bright yellow object made headlines last week.
